

I've had my peek...
Have you?

Colon cancer is our 2nd most common cancer. It attacks men and women equally, and will beset 6% of Americans. It is usually without symptoms until late in the game. Early detection of colon cancer by screening colonoscopy leads to cure in over 90%, yet we now only diagnose 38% in the early stages. People simply aren't getting their colonoscopy done! ALL symptom-free folks 50 years and older should have cancer screening by colonoscopy, yet 60% of patients say their health care professional hasn't recommend screening! Perhaps a humorous reminder from me will nudge you in the right direction. So, move your Butti! I did. Call your doc and request your important colonoscopy screening today!

Compliments of:
Patricia L. Raymond MD FACP FACG
www.ColonJoke.com
(Cartoon Courtesy of Gennadi Ouzounian, Alberta, Canada)

